About the Presenters...

Ngosong Fonkem an International Trade lawyer at Harris Bricken Sliwoski LLP. His enthusiasm for embracing difficult challenges that others are afraid to take on and willingness to go where others won't go has provided him with the opportunity to help his clients navigate unfamiliar business sectors in unfamiliar legal territories. Prior to settling into full time legal practice, Ngosong worked as a full-time law professor at the law faculty of the oldest private university in Malaysia and as an energy intelligence management consultant in Southeast Asia. He continues to teach courses on International Trade and Global Business as an adjunct professor at St. Norbert College Schneider School of Business and Cardinal Stritch University College of Business and Management. In 2022, he was appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Commerce and US Trade Representative ("USTR") to serve as an industry sector advisor within the USTR's Industry Sector Technical Advisory Committee ("ITAC") on "Small, Minority, and Women-led business." At ITAC's first meeting, he was elected to Chair of the committee. In 2019, he was appointed by the "Turkish Investor and Industrialist Businessmen Association" ("YATSIAD") to serve as its U.S. representative. He is chair of the Wisconsin Bar Association International Practice Section and board member of Wisconsin Bar Association Business Law Section. He is chair of events at the International Trade Club of Chicago; vice-chair of the International Section Committee of the Inter-Pacific Bar Association. From 2016 to 2018, he served as a commissioner on the Board of Brown County Harbor Commission at the port of Green Bay. And finally, he serves on the executive committee of Dairy Cares of Wisconsin (a charitable organization that raises money on behalf of Children's Hospital of Wisconsin) and Kicking It With The Cows (another charitable organization that raises money on behalf of St. Jude Children's Hospital). Ngosong frequently speaks on international trade related issues, and regularly makes presentations in the U.S. and abroad on global trade and geopolitics related topics. He has also authored and co-authored numerous articles on trade related topics at peer reviewed law journals, business journals, and magazines. Most recently, he co-authored a book on international trade and geopolitics titled, "Trade Crash: A Primer on Surviving and Thriving in Pandemics & Global Trade Disruption." On a personal note, Ngosong enjoys traveling (he has had the opportunity to visit over 51 countries so far), playing soccer, and sailing.

Corey Norton is an ESG attorney helping accelerate compliance with supply chain laws by drawing on decades in the private sector. Focusing on laws addressing environmental and social impact, such as import prohibitions, mandatory due diligence and climate risk reporting, he engages supply chains to increase understanding of requirements and strategies for compliance efforts to succeed. This includes developing new resources and partnerships, increasing the efficiency and scale of precompetitive platforms and promoting effective government regulation and enforcement. Corey also works with companies, foundations and NGOs to develop tools that help prevent, detect and respond to environmental and social concerns in supply chains.

Anna Tumpovskiy is an international business attorney who dedicates her practice to helping international businesses thrive in an ever-changing international legal environment with particular focus on dispute resolution. She received her legal education both in Russia and the United States culminating in Master of Laws degree from University of Miami's White & Case International Arbitration Institute. Prior to opening her own law firm, Anna worked for a prominent international business consultancy, specializing in corporate finance and restructuring, economic consulting, forensic and litigation consulting, strategic communications and technology. Her boutique law firm provided legal services to corporate clients from US, China, UAE, Russia, Ukraine and EU. Ms. Tumpovskiy also serves as the President for Russian American Bar Association of Florida, and as the Vice President of the non-profit company Harmony in Space that helps orphan children in a war-torn areas of the world.
