
2/76 A Conflict of interest: District attorney

It is not inherently unethical for an attorney whose brother is the district attorney to represent clients in actions defended or prosecuted by the brother. However, individual situations should be carefully considered to avoid even the appearance of impropriety and if a conflict arises, the lawyer must withdraw.