
7/72 Corporate legal staff must not use partnership letterhead

It would be improper for a group of attorneys who were employed full-time in the legal department of a corporation to establish a letterhead holding themselves out as a partnership, with the letterhead making no reference to such corporation. Such holding out would be deceptive and misleading to the public and to other attorneys under the circumstances. See also Opinion of 6/11/70. (7/18/72)